St. Stephens' School Bus Witnesses

80297 In 1903 the Rt. Rev. Charles Henry Brent, first bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of the Philippines, recruited a missionary to work in Manila among the many Chinese residents. Soon afterwards, a night school was established under the name of St. Stephens. Today this school is one of the leading educational institutions in the whole country with more than 6,000 students, mostly Chinese. The school not only proclaims its Christian character in the classrooms but in the back of this bus, even when the lower inscription -- required by transportation authorities -- makes an interesting combination.
